

HSC Staff Committee News

THANK YOU!

Thank you for another successful year for the Lovin' on Little Lobos Donation Drive. We received several books, onesies, HALO Sacks, and other adorable clothes.

In addition, we raised $130 via online donations to help support babies and families going through the unit. The doctors and staff of the UNMH Newborn ICU were very touched and appreciative as they looked over everything. Words are not enough, but...thank you!

HSC January 2018 PAWS Nominee

Congratulations to Jennifer Snead!

A Strategic Support Manager from Project ECHO was nominated for a January 2018 PAWS award by a co-worker. She is described as having the incredible ability to prioritize and produce quality work with speed, and still manage to do everything with a smile. She has a laidback, fun nature which makes her a joy to work with, from taking the time to ask how your weekend went, to injecting a boring email with humor. She approaches her work with integrity and excellence, no matter what the task. "It's easy to see Jennifer truly gets joy from her work at Project ECHO. If the entire workplace were filled with people like Jennifer, we would all be so lucky."

To learn more, contact Nancy Shane, nshane@salud.unm.edu, Lori Peterkin, lpeterkin@salud.unm.edu, or come to a meeting. Do you remember the Morning Rave?

It was held four years ago on HSC's lower plaza in honor of the School of Medicine's 50th anniversary on one of the few rainy days in Albuquerque. In spite of the weather, over 300 faculty, staff and students enjoyed Keva juice, coffee, muffins, chair massages, yoga, door prizes, dancing to the music and raving up their morning energy.

The HSC Staff Committee has received multiple requests for another Morning Rave. Organizing a successful event will require a committee of dedicated volunteers. If you are interested in chairing the committee or serving on it, please contact lpeterkin@salud.unm.edu.

IMPORTANT UNM RECYCLING INFO

UNM Recycling would like to clarify some of our processes. Recycling techs will not enter offices to pick up blue desk side bins, these bins must be emptied by the office occupant into the larger blue bins located on their floor.

Also cardboard boxes should not be left in hallways. UNM Safety and Risk Services has determined that neither corridors nor exits may be blocked by furniture or other obstructions since it could slow evacuation in the event of an emergency. Neither custodians nor recycling techs are allowed to remove cardboard boxes from the hallways, this is the responsibility of the building occupants. Cardboard boxes should be flattened and placed adjacent to the large blue recycling bins, inside a trash room, or in the cardboard cages located outside near the building loading dock. Recycling techs will pick up cardboard in those locations. If you have any further questions about recycling, please contact Mary Clark, Sustainability Manager, at 277-1142 or mary@unm.edu. Thank you.
